St. Francis Ireland Fall 2012

Nancy's Notes

It shouldn't take a disaster to find out how much the people who surround you really care and support you in your time of need. Hurricane Sandy will not easily be forgotten. Did you ever think losing power for a week made you one of the lucky ones? Our thoughts and prayers remain with those of us who were and still are being impacted by Sandy and hope the end of road to recovery is near. Please try to support local businesses and charities as we come into our summer season and we can show everyone our Jersey Pride.

I would like to thank everyone for their get well wishes for my mother. I knew she was beginning to feel better when she started beating me every day in gin. My only consolation was I was winning most of the Scrabble challenges. After having a pacemaker put in she is looking forward to my visit in June for her 84th.

My son is attending Drexel for his Master's in Hospitality, with a GPA of 3.88. He was asked to join ESD* and I am very proud. How he ever decided on that career choice I will never know. Yes, the apple doesn't fall far from the tree. Congratulations Michael and good luck with your thesis.

Just a bit more about family—I would like to thank my sister Cindy for the Pina Colada cake recipe in this newsletter. When I make it for our trip info nights at St. Francis everyone raves about it.

Congratulations to Pat Millinghausen and the work she does with the Mt. Holly Elks. Last but certainly not least, Tara's daughter Kenna placed first for her artwork in the national PTA program that stresses the importance of visual and performing arts in conjunction with literature. She won the Merit of Excellence award by placing first among Stafford kindergartners.

Calling all Downton Abbey fans!! I will be the first to admit that a year ago I had no idea who or what was Downton Abbey. Since then and thanks to Father Steve; I am hooked and I am sure someone on Holland America's Volendam is enjoying Father Steve's DVDs which I accidentally left behind without even watching them. So, I went to the store and found both Season One and Two—if I only knew which I lost. Solved that problem by buying both and having to admit I lost it in the first place. Uh oh, needed to confess and repent. Father Steve said I didn't have to replace it; just watch it—I'm sure you'll enjoy it. Well, he was right; the next three nights after work and that Saturday and Sunday, I was glued to the TV. We won't even talk about trying to buy Season Three while in Ireland because it aired there prior to it being seen in the US.

That was a little history on how easily you can get hooked. What happens to Lady Mary? And the baby? Lady Edith? Tour Highclere Castle – where it all happens. The actual estate is over 1,000 acres (larger than Central Park) and has 50 bedrooms. The current occupant, Fiona, the eighth Countess of Carnarvon, was once quoted "I suppose if you know how many rooms you've got, you haven't got a very big house." So many more sights that will remind every fan why they enjoy watching the series and some background information you may not even know about.

*Eta Sigma Delta

Eta Sigma Delta (ESD) is an international honor society that recognizes exceptional academic achievement among hospitality and tourism students at the baccalaureate and master levels. Eta Sigma Delta is administered by the International Council on Hotel, Restaurant and Institution Education (I-CHRIE), the leading international association devoted to hospitality and tourism education. The ESD chapter provides professional, organizational and educational benefits that affect individual students, the hospitality program and the institution. The professional benefits include an opportunity for outstanding students to distinguish themselves in the eyes of educators, recruiters and industry executives in an increasingly competitive industry.

- Must have completed 50% of coursework
- Must be a major in Hospitality Management
- Must have an overall grade point average of 3.50 or higher and be in the top 15% of your class.

We are delighted to announce that our new Royal Princess will be officially named by Her Royal Highness The Duchess of Cambridge. The grand ceremony will take place in Southampton, England on June 13. We can think of no better way to celebrate our company's British heritage than by having The Duchess, admired around the world for her style and grace, serve as Godmother to our newest ship. Princess has a rich history of celebrated Godmothers throughout the years including names such as Margaret Thatcher, Audrey Hepburn, Sophia Loren and the Princess of Wales.

Royal Princess will arrive at Ocean Terminal in Southampton, England on Friday, June 7 for a week of festivities before the official inauguration ceremony. After two short preview cruises, Royal Princess will embark on a maiden voyage on June 16, followed by Grand Mediterranean cruises throughout the Summer and Eastern Caribbean cruises beginning in the Fall.

We are just back from a spectacular trip arranged for us by Nancy at Hometown Travel. We traveled with AMA Waterways from Budapest to Prague. We are grateful to Nancy for suggesting this trip. Her thoughtful planning made this trip one in which you need not worry about any of the details. We had a wonderful time, met new friends, saw incredible sights and ate/drank too much! Thanks again to Nancy for a wonderful trip.

Ocean Blue

The newest Norwegian Cruise Lines ship, the Norwegian Getaway, will sail year round from Miami to the Eastern Caribbean starting in February 2014. Celebrity chef and Food Network star Geoffrey Zakarian will oversee the opening of his second seafood restaurant, Ocean Blue. His first will be on the NCL Breakaway; sailing this May from NYC to Bermuda. Ocean Blue, will bring a luxury seafood dining experience to both ships, utilizing all of the ingredients and techniques Geoffrey Zakarian employs in his land based establishments. On select sailings he will host meet-and-greets with guests, along with in-person cooking demonstrations and an intimate cooking experience for smaller groups.

Ocean Blue, the Raw Bar and Ocean Blue on the Waterfront are just three of the incredible dining options that will be found amongst three expansive, flowing decks of dining venues, bars, entertainment and gaming. The Waterfront, the ship's oceanfront boardwalk and 678 Ocean Place, are the central hub of the ship. These two areas, lined with shops, restaurants and bars, represent a major innovation in ship design, offering guests an unparalleled experience with a unique connection to the ocean.

Our Trip to Italy

We left Newark International Airport on Sept. 20th and arrived in Rome, Italy on Sept. 21st. Our ride from the airport to the Hotel (The River Palace) was waiting for us as Nancy, owner of Home Town Travel, had arranged. For the next four days we had private tours of the city and the Vatican. Every tour was fun and informative. The tour guides were friendly and spoke perfect English. I thought I knew of some good Italian Restaurants and pizza shops here in NJ, but Rome is certainly the exception.

After checking out of the hotel in Rome we were driven to the train station for our next stop, Florence. The bullet trains are fast and very comfortable. We were met at the train station by a private driver and driven to our hotel, The Berchelli, on the Arno River. Again hotel staff and tour guides were great. We toured Florence for two days. On the third day we had a bus tour of the city of Sienna and the Tuscany region. After a speedy train ride from Florence, our next stop was Venice. This time we were met by a water taxi and driven down the Grand Canal by boat to our hotel. Venice is really something to see, "A City on Water". We had great walking tours and a ride on a gondola. We heard opera singers at the opera house and on the gondola. Saint Marks Square is something to see.

We left Italy on Oct. 1st and arrived back in Newark. Everyone of our connections and hotels were wonderful, thanks to Nancy from Home Town Travel.

Icelandair To Launch Newark Service

Icelandair is pleased to announce it will begin scheduled service from Newark Liberty International Airport (EWR) on October 28, 2013.

Icelandair has served the New York City market for over 60 years with flights to and from John F. Kennedy International (JFK) and will continue to do so. The Newark flights will supplement the JFK service and will operate four times per week on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

The Secrets Of Highclere Castle (PBS Documentary)

Secrets of Highclere Castle is the true story of one of the world's most famous homes, Highclere Castle in England. Famous as the location backdrop to the hugely-popular costume drama Downton Abbey, the castle also has its own extraordinary tales to tell.

For centuries it has been the real-life home of the aristocratic Carnarvon family, and has entertained Kings and Queens of England along with a host of nobilities and celebrities. An ancestor of the modern-day Lord and Lady Carnarvon bankrolled the expeditions that discovered the tomb of Tutankhamen, which explains one of this stately home's astonishing secrets. Hidden within secret compartments in its wall are centuries-old Egyptian relics, while in the basement are replicas of the contents of the tomb itself: a slice of Egyptian history transported to the depths of the English countryside.

The show explores Highclere's illustrious history and reveals that truth can often be stranger than fiction. Many of the events played-out in the fictional Downton Abbey are based-upon true tales from Highclere's past. Just like its television counterpart, the castle was, for example, a military hospital that played a vital role in the First World War. The hospital, complete with operating theater, was set-up and run by the fabulously wealthy Lady Almina, the 5th Countess of Carnarvon, who traded the trappings of her comfortable aristocratic life for the chance to nurse wounded officers brought home from the battlefield.

In the early years of the 20th Century, English aristocrats owned more than half of the land in the country, and the phrase 'nothing exceeds like excess' was coined to describe their lifestyles. It was a world of luxury and indolence for a wealthy few, supported by an army of servants toiling ceaselessly "below stairs" to make the privileged lives of their Lords and Ladies run as smoothly as possible.

And Highclere was no exception. It was deemed, the social epicenter of Edwardian England, and even hosted HRH The Prince of Wales, the future King of England, for the most extravagant shooting party in Highclere's history. The bill came to a staggering thirty thousand dollars just to feed the guests.

Unsurprisingly, such high life took its toll on the pockets of the aristocrats. Owners of British manor houses were "land rich," but "cash poor," and many sought out rich wives as a means of improving their financial fortunes. The 5th Earl of Carnarvon earned new money for the estate through his marriage to a teenage heiress named Almina Wombwell, the illegitimate daughter of banking giant Alfred De Rothschild. She gained a title and access to High Society: he gained access to her fabulous wealth.

Even so, the social and political changes that followed the end of the war in 1918 were to spell ruin for many British country estates. Huge increases in income tax and death duties meant that many families were forced to sell homes that had stood proud for centuries. For British aristocracy it was the end of life as they knew it. Great country estates fell into ruin and many were demolished. Life at Highclere changed forever – but the house withstood it all.

Today, the castle remains the family home of Lord and Lady Carnarvon. At around a million dollars a year in upkeep, the life of the English nobility is no longer one of extravagant parties and opulence. Secrets of Highclere Castle gives a privileged, behind-the-scenes taste of what it is like to be a modern-day Lord and Lady living in a home with 1300 years of English history.

Announcing Norwegian Breakaway's Home Port and Hull Artist

Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg and Norwegian Cruise Line CEO Kevin Sheehan are proud to announce that Norwegian Breakaway will make New York City her year-round home port. Beginning in May 2013, Norwegian Breakaway—which will be the largest ship ever to home port in the city—will replace Norwegian Star, and embark on a minimum of 88 cruises from the Manhattan Cruise Terminal through March 31, 2015. Norwegian Cruise Line was the first cruise line to homeport year-round in New York City beginning in 2003. Since then, we have been committed to bringing our newest and largest ships to the Big Apple, with two ships calling in New York City since 2005. Norwegian Gem will continue to sail from New York City year-round and Norwegian Star will sail 15 times from New York in 2013 before being replaced.

Following inaugural events, the ship will sail a series of 22 seven-day cruises from New York to Bermuda beginning May 12, 2013 through October 6, 2013. Departing on Sundays, the ship will spend three full days in Bermuda, along with three days at sea.

We would also like to announce that pop icon and America's most popular living artist, Peter Max, has been commissioned to paint the signature hull artwork for Norwegian Breakaway. This is the first time we have asked a well-known artist to paint the hull artwork on one of our ships. With paintings on exhibition in hundreds of museums and galleries worldwide, Peter Max and his vibrant colors have become part of the fabric of contemporary culture. Max has been successively called a Pop Icon, Neo Fauvist, Abstract Expressionist and the United States' "Painter Laureate." Max has a long-standing career as the preeminent Pop artist in America. His art appears on a 600-foot stage for the Woodstock Music Festival; the covers of Verizon's New York City yellow and white pages; and a giant mural unveiled at the 2002 Winter Olympics. Max has also been designated Official Artist of five Super Bowls, six Grammy Awards, World Cup USA, The World Series, the United Nations Earth Summit, and numerous other events. Max was honored at the Jefferson Awards with an award for his lifetime dedication to America, and its charitable causes. For more information on Norwegian Breakaway go to www.ncl.com/breakaway.

With the advent of the Internet, many industry observers felt the need for travel agents had passed. By 2009, however, CNN was reporting that an increasing number of travel buyers preferred to talk with a real person when buying travel services. According to a study released by Forrester Research, 46 percent of U.S. leisure travelers enjoyed using the Internet to book travel in 2009, down from 53 percent in 2007. Increasingly, travelers were finding that access to pricing information is not the same as access to value information. "What the Internet has done is given us a nation that knows the price of everything and the value of nothing," said Bill Maloney, CEO of the American Society of Travel Agents in the CNN piece.

TSA to replace “naked” scanners at major hubs

Passengers traveling to and from the US can rest assured their “privates” will remain private after the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) announced it would be replacing controversial x-ray body scanners with less invasive machinery at several major airports.

New millimetre-wave Advanced Imaging Technology (AIT) machines at Los Angeles, Boston Logan, Chicago O'Hare, Charlotte Douglas, Orlando, LaGuardia and John F. Kennedy airports will see the “naked” scanners phased out over the coming months..

According to a TSA spokesperson, the new machines perform the same function as the body scanners but screen a person in as little as ten seconds as well as pose less radiation concerns.

Additionally, the new AIT devices do not map a person's body in as much as detail, instead highlighting possible threats underneath clothing with an orange square.

“What comes up is a computer-generated image that's the same for everyone — kind of like an outline of a person,” the spokesperson said.

“If you forgot to remove your cell phone from your pocket, it shows up as a yellow box around that area.

“The officer knows where to search, and you'll be able to see why he's targeting that area.”

Disney Parks Debut 24-Hour “Monstrous Summer” Memorial Day Weekend

Walt Disney World Resort and Disneyland Resort will kick off what it is dubbing a “Monstrous Summer” by keeping three theme parks open for 24 hours nonstop on Memorial Day Weekend. The Magic Kingdom Park in Florida and Disneyland Park and Disney California Adventure Park in California will stay open from 6 a.m., May 24 to 6 a.m., May 25. The weekend will take its inspiration from the upcoming Disney Pixar comedy adventure Monsters University.

Monster stars Mike and Sulley (the big blue monster and the yellow eyeball) will host the All-Nighter. In Florida, the Magic Kingdom will feature a Monsters University theme where Mike and Sulley will be the Grand Marshals of the Celebrate a Dream Come True day parade. Guests also will find extra entertainment throughout the day and night, including characters in their pajamas in Town Square during the late night and early morning, and late-night dance parties in and around the courtyard of Cinderella Castle.

In California, both parks will feature special entertainment, including a Monster's University, TLT Monstrous Dance Club and Star Wars characters in Tomorrowland, and late-night Character Pajama Party in Mickey's Toontown at Disneyland. The new Fantasy Faire Royal Theatre at Disneyland will become a Royal Dance Hall late at night with a live band and dancing. Disney California Adventure guests will find Monstrous photo opportunities with new Monsters University “Dorms” in Hollywood Land and a new Monsters University float leading the Pixar Play Parade.

All three parks will feature limited-edition specialty merchandise and food and beverage offerings plus other surprises throughout the entire day.

Hello Nancy.

First, let me finally take a moment to say "THANK YOU" for everything you did to make our first family vacation to Disney an awesome experience. Gregg and I had taken our older son, Nick to Animal Kingdom when he was four, but only a day trip. Finally, last October, our second son, Mikey was old enough for us to take "the plunge" and Nick was turning 11. We went over our anniversary and Nick's birthday. We booked our trip with Hometown and YOU. Because of our package, we were able to have free breakfast every day and we had fine amenities at our hotel.....Enough for a family who only slept there! Because we had 2 celebrations during this vacation, we made memories and had dinner at 2 awesome restaurants. We rented a convertible Camaro and the boys had the time of their lives. Here are a few photos. Thank you again for taking the time to ensure we had a wonderful experience (the boys keep asking when we are going back!)

Thank you again.....You ROCK!

Lesley and Gregg Merritt (and Nick and Mikey)

This is an amazing place. Especially loved the diamonds!
Wonderful trip so far! Thanks for your help!

Houston Departures for Norwegian Jewel, Caribbean Princess

Norwegian Cruise Line and Princess Cruises have committed to homeport ships at Houston's Bayport Cruise Terminal. In November 2013, the 3,080-passenger Caribbean Princess will begin a series of Houston-based sailings, with 26 departures planned for the winter season. Beginning in fall 2014, the 2,374-passenger Norwegian Jewel will depart from Houston for at least three years. The last time Norwegian home ported a ship in Houston was in 2007.

Rob & Stacy Petry of Bayville and children, Gordon, Danielle & Griffin

Dear Nancy,

I wanted to thank you for sending us on the Monarch of the Seas, Royal Caribbean cruise to the Bahamas this past November. Our entire family had a wonderful time and made so many memories. The ship was beautiful and a perfect size for the 5 of us. So many activities were scheduled throughout the day that we often had to choose which to attend. The days were exhausting and full of fun. The food was perfect for my picky eaters and the My Time dining was ideal considering we didn't want commit to a schedule on vacation. Our waiters made dining a unique experience with a riddle each night for us to figure out. We couldn't say enough about the four day trip to the Bahamas other than next time we'll go longer! Thanks so much!
