Hilton Tulum Riviera Maya All-Inclusive Resort Debuts

Hilton has announced the opening of Hilton Tulum Riviera Maya All-Inclusive Resort, marking the company's first-ever all-inclusive offering in Tulum. It has 735 rooms and suites in three-story villa-style buildings, a variety of dining experiences, including five signature restaurants, entertainment options, activities, pools and a Family Zone with a water park playground.

Guestrooms at the resort have private balconies and each of the 59 suites have living and dining areas, along with king bedrooms. Each suite also has upscale bathrooms with oversized vanities and walk-in rainfall showers. Premium suites include two-bedroom connecting options ideal for families and groups traveling together.

The culinary options include five signature restaurants, bars and lounges, and several poolside offerings, including Maxal, which offers Mexican cuisine; La Luce Restaurant, a trattoria that offers cooked-to-order pasta, among other dishes; Auma, which serves meat and vegetables directly from the open-fire grill; Noriku, a contemporary Asian restaurant; Vela, an all-day-dining buffet; Azulinda, the deli-style coffee shop; and Cocomar Ceviche, offering fresh seafood.

Besides a private beach, the resort has eight pools and five Jacuzzis. The Fitness Center has a yoga studio, spinning room and access to professional instructors. The resort's Family Zone offers a splash pool for children, with water park playground and play area. The zone has all-day dining option with bar, La Churreria, and a two-story facility for children and teenagers.

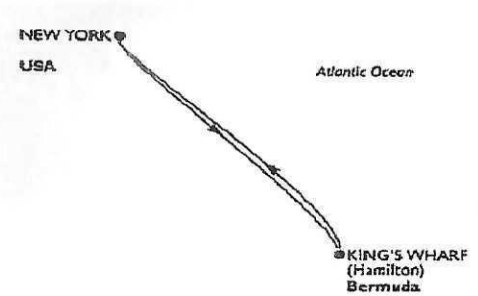

Guests at the resort can also visit the recently opened neighboring property, Conrad Tulum Riviera Maya, which includes five restaurants, six bars and Conrad Spa Tulum.

WHAT TO PACK ON YOUR HAWAII VACATION

Hawaii Trip Packing Suggestions

No matter how much traveling you've done before, one tip serves as the "Golden Rule of Packing" for Hawaii: leave as much as possible at home. So what items should make the cut? Check out our suggestions on Packing for Your Trip to Hawaii to make sure you have exactly what you'll need.

Casual Warm Weather Clothing- With the exception of the most exclusive resorts, most places in Hawaii have a casual atmosphere. This means that shorts and a nice Aloha shirt are perfectly appropriate for dining out, even in the 'fancier' establishments. You'll want several T-shirts, a few pairs of shorts, flip-flops or sandals, and a hat or visor. Cotton blend clothing is always a good option.

Light Jacket, Long Pants, Raingear- It pays to be prepared for the chillier weather, especially if you'll be visiting some of the higher elevations. If you do, we suggest layering your clothing so you will always be comfortable. You'll want a lightweight rain jacket or poncho (we prefer cheaper emergency ponchos since they are light and easy to transport), especially for rainforest and mountain hiking. Your winter coat can stay behind unless you think you'll need it on the summit of Haleakala or Mauna Kea for those sunrise/sunset trips

Sunscreen- We cannot emphasize this enough: you absolutely do not want to ruin your dream vacation with a sunburn. Even if it is cloudy and rainy, the UV index can be very high, so be sure to slather some on. Please choose a coral reef safe brand, as traditional sunscreen contains chemicals that damage and even kill the precious reefs.

Backpack- To carry your necessities while out and about, especially when hiking. Here are some light backpack choices to consider.

Water Bottle- Hawaii's warm climate, combined with activities such as hiking, sunning on the beach, etc., make it very important to stay hydrated with a good water bottle

Swimsuit and Cover Up/Sarong- No one wants to put on a soggy suit. Take two, so you can wear one while the other dries.

Footwear- Choose flip-flops, sandals, or other comfortable and lightweight shoes for beach/poolside and walking. If hiking is on the itinerary, you'll need some sturdy hiking boots. Most zipline operators also require some sort of closed-toe shoe, as well. Do not buy new shoes right before you leave without breaking them in; you certainly don't want blisters at the outset of your vacation

Bug Spray with DEET- Rainforest hikes can make you a mosquito magnet; head them off at the pass before they nibble on you.

Camera- You'll want to take lots of pictures of your tropical getaway, so now's the time to invest in a good digital camera. Make sure your photos will be backed up somewhere should lose your camera or phone. Of course, what equipment you choose to take may vary (a casual vs. professional photographer, for instance).

Flashlight- You'll appreciate having one if the sun sets before your hike ends, or for nighttime strolls along the beach.

Aloha!

Chicken Piccata

Ingredients:

2 skinless and boneless chicken breasts, butterflyed and then cut in half
Sea salt and freshly ground black pepper
All-purpose flour, for dredging
6 tablespoons unsalted butter
5 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
1/3 cup fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup chicken stock
1/4 cup brined capers, rinsed
1/3 cup fresh parsley, chopped

Directions:

1 Season chicken with salt and pepper. Dredge chicken in flour and shake off excess.

2 In a large skillet over medium high heat, melt 2 tablespoons of butter with 3 tablespoons olive oil. When butter and oil start to sizzle, add 2 pieces of chicken and cook for 3 minutes. When chicken is browned, flip and cook other side for 3 minutes. Remove and transfer to plate. Melt 2 more tablespoons butter and add another 2 tablespoons olive oil. When butter and oil start to sizzle, add the other 2 pieces of chicken and brown both sides in same manner. Remove pan from heat and add chicken to the plate.

3 Into the pan add the lemon juice, stock and capers. Return to stove and bring to boil, scraping up brown bits from the pan for extra flavor. Check for seasoning. Return all the chicken to the pan and simmer for 5 minutes. Remove chicken to platter. Add remaining 2 tablespoons butter to sauce and whisk vigorously. Pour sauce over chicken and garnish with parsley.
